

Signup User Story

As a new user of the web application, when I am directed to the Signup page, I will see a list of mandatory questions, which ask me to select a username, password, and email address. If I enter a username that already exists, I will receive an error message to ask for another username.

“Enabling Default Location” (secondary story)

In the bottom of the Signup page, I will see a checkbox, which asks me whether I want to enable a default location. If I check the box, I will a form under the checkbox, which asks me to input my default location: street address, city, state, and zip code. However, this isn't a mandatory question, I don't have to check the box.

“Connecting to Spotify” (secondary story)

After I click the “Sign up” button on the page to submit my signup request, I will see a page to inform me that I have created an account with the web app. Also, there will be a pop-up window to ask me to connect to my Spotify account, so I can get better recommendations on concerts. If I click the “Connecting to Spotify” button, I will be asked to fill in my Spotify username and password. If I don't want to connect to my Spotify account, I can just close the pop-up window.

Building up profiles (secondary story)

After successfully creating an account, I will also be given a questionnaire about my music and music venue preferences. I will be able to select my favorite genres and artists. I will also be asked to rank various venues near my default location on a scale of 1-5 stars. I am not required to answer this questionnaire if I don't want, but what I answer here will provide me better recommendations on concerts. Also, all of my answers will be stored in my profile, so I can edit my answers in future (refer to “Profile” user story under “Homepage” user story).
