

Signup User Story

As a new user of the web application, when I am directed to the Signup page, I will see a list of mandatory questions, which ask me to input an email address, username, password, and password verification. If I enter a username that already exists, I will receive an error message to ask for another username. If I enter an email that already exists, it will show me a message which indicates that the account has already existed.

After filling out the initial information for the Signup page, I will be redirected to the Homepage. If I want to build my profile, set up music preferences, or connect to my Spotify Account, I will be redirected to the "Homepage" User Story.
